

MOB Index Score

Look, girls, I met another famous person!

Lt. Governor's visit

August 13, 2008 10:11 AM | Permalink

[photo deleted]

Our Lieutenant Governor, Phil Bryant, was on campus yesterday, amped up with ideas for the future of the state and the role higher education can play. I was glad to give this beloved Southern Miss alumnus a tour of the Trent Lott Center for Economic Development and Entrepreneurship, currently under construction.

“Amped up”? My, aren’t we fluent in the popular vernacular. And a photo of Mr. Bryant leaving your office, but no photo with you. Oh well, “beloved” is beloved. BTW: can you really love someone you do not know? It is a shame he had to dash off before he could co-judge something with you. Maybe at homecoming.

JMO, but isn’t it embarrassing at this point that the Trent Lott Center is not completed?

MOB Index Score of 2 for the photo (even without a mention of the (non-beloved?) other man in the photo).

TNT.