Look, I get the whole "it's a long season" and "conference is what counts" mindset. But placing a w (actually 2 w's) over the #8 team as doing "just enough" is lunacy.

The fact grown men are arguing everything under the sun on an anonymous message board should let you know that lunacy runs rampant here. I wonder how rich we could all be if we put as much effort into profitable ventures as we do on this message board.
